COULD NOT SWAT, AND BROWNS WON

Sudhoff Befuddled Washington Batters.

STAHL IS BACK IN THE GAME

Played Center Field to Save His Injured Finger—Lay-Off Hurt First Baseman's Sticking.

St. Louis, 2; Washington, 1.

The Senators could not hit and their opponents could, and that is the childishly simple reason why they lost to St. Louis by 2 to 1.

Long Tom Hughes was in the box for the home folk, and although he was rapped safely ten times, he must be given credit for a good game. O'Neill's error and a little luck with the Browns in the way of getting hits in at opportune moments caused the trouble.

Stahl was in the game again, but first base was not strenuous a position for a man with a bad finger, and he took up a post in center field, where there was not much danger of his being run into by husky opponents. He had a busy time there but did well, except in batting. His stickwork was a little off because of his long absence from the game.

AMATEUR BASEBALL.

The Young Giants defeated the Goldengrubs by 11 to 8. The features were the batting and pitching of R. Casler and the catching of E. Alexander.

The Silver Stars lost yesterday to the Anderson Athletic Club by 6 to 10 on the Monument Grounds. The Silver Stars went to pieces in the eighth inning. Batteries—Moye and Cassidy; McDonald and Ashford, and Seaton and Sherwood.

CRESCENTS ADD ANOTHER TO LIST OF VICTORIES

The Crescents defeated the Pacifices yesterday evening by 4 to 1, in a game that was cut short by darkness. The Pacifices scored their only run when Mandley, in an attempt to catch a runner at second, threw the ball away.

The feature was a magnificent stop and throw by Priest of a hard hit ball back of third. The ball looked like a sure hit, but Priest got in front of it and by a great throw to first base, he put it at first by a step. The Crescents will play the Rosebuds tomorrow evening at Thirteenth and E Streets northwest.

FALLS CHURCH FELL BEFORE DUMBARTON

Dumbarton defeated Falls Church on Georgetown Field yesterday by 20 to 1. The clubmen hit Mathews hard, while the Virginians were unable to touch Lowe.

Saturday Dumbarton will play the Maryland Athletic Club in Baltimore, and on Labor Day will play in Leesburg.

SPORTING COMMENT.

Rome Respass has bought Barney Schreiber's good cut, Woodlawn, for a price said to be $5,000.

Jack Taylor kicked over the traces at St. Louis this week and demanded his release from the Robinsons. He claimed that Nichols was picking out soft spots for himself in the pitching line. Jack cooled off a little later and the row is thought to be over.

A new baseball league is to be formed in the South as the result of the success of Independent ball. It will be composed of Meriden, Selma, Mobile, Pensacola, Hattiesburg and Jackson.

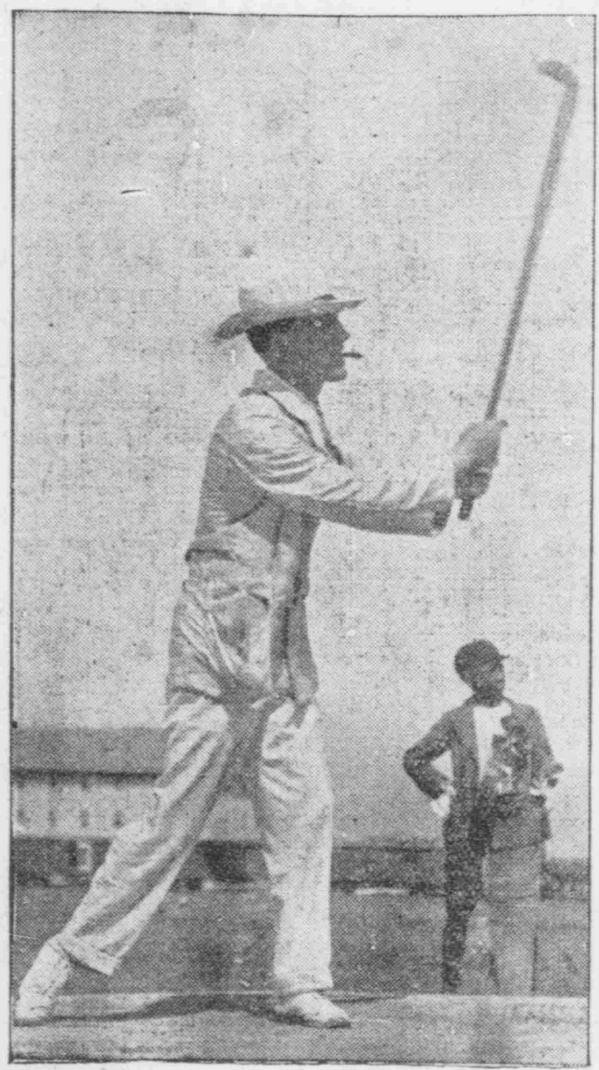

New Orleans claims to be the only club in the Southern League which does not carry more players than the league rules permit.

Harvey W. Cohn, of the Greater New York Irish A. A., will try at the Tallin games to be given by the association on Labor Day to break the record for three-fourths of a mile. The present mark is 3:24.5, made by Tommy Conneff in 1896.

Colonial Beach.

The daily excursion trips of the steamers of the Randall Line to Colonial Beach will end with the trip made Sunday, September 1, and those who wish to have a pleasant outing on salt water have but little over a week in which to enjoy it. The steamer Arrowmouth will make one of her special family day trips tomorrow, leaving here at 8:40 a. m., and giving those who make the trip several hours in which to enjoy a fine salt water bath, or to find amusement with the other pleasures of the beach. The ticket for this trip is sold for the present but is good to return day of issue only. Those who wish to spend the Labor Day holidays away from home can go to the beach Saturday evening or Sunday morning on the steamer Arrowmouth and Harry Randall, and can return home Monday evening, thus losing no time from business. The fare for the round trip will be 50 cents, and the ticket is good until the excursion season ends.

Personal Comment on Men and Things in the Olympic Games

Ralph Rose, of the University of Michigan, who is competing under the colors of the Chicago Athletic Association, put the sixteen-pound shot 48 feet 7 inches, establishing a new world's record which is likely to stand for some years to come. His put was two feet four inches better than the former Olympic record, established in 1900 at Paris by Dick Sheldon, of Yale. The record made yesterday was four inches better than the record made by Rose at the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival last spring, when he easily put it over all the Eastern cranks, including Glass, DeWitt, and Boyd. Bill Coe, the Yale man who was competing for the Somerville Athletic Association, finished second at St. Louis yesterday. This man is a former Oxford, England, athlete, and has been looked upon for some time as the one who would likely break the old record, which was held by Dennis Hogan, of Ireland.

Ray C. Ewry, who won the standing broad jump, came within one inch of his record of five feet, made in 1898, at New York.

The time of 10-2-5 seconds for the 100-yard dash was one of the poorest performances of the classic games.

Moulton, the old Yale captain, who was in the finals of the Century Dash, at Mott Haven, when Arthur Duffey clipped the record to 2-5-5, was just able to finish fourth in the 200-meter event, which was won by Archie Hahn, of Michigan, in 21-3-5, which is another new Olympic record. The old record was 21-1-5, and was held by Tewksbury, of Pennsylvania.

There were no Georgetown entries, and nearly all the college men entered were accredited to athletic associations. The actual jump of six feet by S. S. Jones, in the running high jump handicap, was one of the best pieces of work of the meet, but the handicaps were too much for him and he finished fourth.

LeRoy Samson, of the University of Indiana, showed high quality when he cleared 11 feet 9 inches in the pole vault and won the event from the scratch. It was a walkover for him as his nearest competitor was Walter R. Dray of Bloomington, Ill., who cleared only 11 feet and had but one inch allowance.

Hungary showed up again in the 100-yard handicap, when Bela finished fourth.

J. J. Daly got some satisfaction for losing the 250-meter steepchase by winning the mile handicap. He had an allowance of twenty yards. It seems to have been a case of too liberal handicaps, as the scratch man did not show.

Daly, the Irishman, was leading in the 2,000 meter steepchase by fifteen yards up to the last lap, when he tired quickly and balked at the water jump. Lightbody, of Chicago, then went ahead and won by 100 yards.

Steepchasing for athletes made a big hit in the West.

The Olympic games have become unusually popular with the women in St. Louis, and the winners who accomplish anything remarkable become popular idols with the fair sex.

Poage, the Milwaukee runner, who failed to get in the money in the 400-meter race in 1-5 of a second slower time than Heggson and Blair, he was not counted upon to do much in the final, but by a magnificent burst of speed he won by a yard in 7 seconds, equalling the world's record.

Because Archie Hahn won his heat in the 60-meter race in 1-5 of a second slower time than Heggson and Blair, he was not counted upon to do much in the final, but by a magnificent burst of speed he won by a yard in 7 seconds, equalling the world's record.

Runge, the German, won the 880-yard handicap, with an allowance of ten yards, but was ten yards ahead at the finish, so the Helme deserved the prize. Recheatelli, with a start of fifty yards, set a terrific pace at first, but soon blew up. Peck, of Montreal, scratch man, made a grand race for second. The third man, Roth, is a California schoolboy, who looks like a comer.

All things considered, the West did well with its two firsts against four firsts for the East. Milwaukee showed up strong, with a first and a second in the Olympic championships, and a second in the hurdle handicap.

The club honors were for the first day—New York A. C., three firsts; Milwaukee A. C., one first; Chicago A. C., one first; Greater New York Irish A. C., one first.

SIXTH FORFEITED TO GUNTON TEMPLE

Owing to the non-appearance of the Sixth Presbyterian team, the game which was to have been played with the Gunton Temple nine was forfeited to the latter by 9 to 0.

A picked team was then put on the field to cross bats with the Guntons, and last year's champions won, by 14 to 12. The game was practically devoid of features. The batting was hard and timely on both sides, and the fielding was extremely loose.

MANY YOUNGSTERS SEEK GOLF HONOR

Youths in Amateur Championship Tournament.

TRAVIS WILL START EARLY

Byers Slips Into Country and Does Some Hard Work Preparing—Behr Making Record Scores.

Entries for the amateur golf championship, which begins on Tuesday at the Baltusrol Golf Club, were announced and paired by a public drawing yesterday by the executive committee of the United States Golf Association.

There was a special meeting for the purpose, attended by Vice President Adrian J. Leake, Secretary W. Pelton Morgan, and Committeemen Daniel Chauncey and Fred S. James, of Chicago. The meeting was at Daniel Chauncey's office, and to follow the instructions of this annual meeting, J. Leake, a non-member, Ransom H. Thomas, of the Morris County Golf Club, drew the names from the hat.

Former Champions.

Travis will make an early start. Douglas Macdonald and James, of former champions, are among the 140 entries; also H. Chandler Egan, W. E. Egan, and Frank O. Reinhart, the intercollegiate champion, who made a 73 at Baltusrol on Tuesday. The list begins with the names of thirty youngsters, any one of whom has the skill to win it in the vein. Among them are Hershoff, Wilcox, Fuller, McMurtry, Sherman, Travers, Winder, Chapman, and Roy DesRaisnes. It is the first time that this element has looked so good in advance.

Eben M. Byers, runner-up to Travis last year and to Louis N. James, in 1902, and who played at Yale and Morris in the British championship, is back in this country for the amateur championship, but without any of his British success. He slipped in by way of Boston, and has been going at Watch Hill, over the links of the Misquament Golf Club.

Behr Dangerous.

He has been playing a good deal with Max H. Behr, of Yale and Morris, who is also entered at Baltusrol. Behr has been doing the better rounds of the two, playing remarkably well. Last week Behr made a seventy-three, and on Monday a seventy-two, the best score ever recorded for Misquament. The professional record is seventy-four. There were his entries last year, but he had names will probably bring the present list up to the same total.

Newton, all the way from Seattle, and Swords, the Morris junior player, will play in the first round. The first pair will tee up at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, the other pairs at four-minute intervals.

NEITHER SCORED IN CLOSE GAME

Neither the Gonzaga nor Norris Peters team was able to score in the game played by them at Thirteenth and D Streets northeast, yesterday. Cantwell and Wilkerson were the opposing twirlers, and allowed only seven hits between them in six innings, when the game had to be called on account of darkness.

To Torney is due the credit of saving the game for his team. In the sixth inning, with a man on third and over short, but Torney, by a sensational catch, retired the side, and prevented Gonzaga from winning.

The Score:

Battelle, Cantwell and Smith; Wilkerson and Hughes.

MURPHY PUT UP CORKING FIGHT

Had Bantam Champion Neil in Trouble.

Frankie Used It Effectively, But Murphy Is a Great Two-Handed Scrapper.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1.—Tommy Murphy, of New York, gave Frankie Neil, the California champion bantam, more than was bargained for at the National Athletic Club last evening.

The fight went the full six rounds, and both boys were in condition to continue at the end, but there had been times in the contest when it looked bad for each. There was not a semblance of a knock-down in the full six rounds, and yet each man landed flush on the jaw repeatedly. They were fighting so fast that they could not take time to put their full strength into the blows.

All through the earlier rounds Neil seemed to be the better man. He was the aggressor, and did fine execution with his remarkably clever left hand, starting the chest of Murphy's nose in the second round. Neil seemed to be saving himself all he could and the wise ones looked for a great finish from the champion.

Bad for Neil.

Possibly this was Neil's plan, but if it was Murphy spoiled it, for early in the fifth round Tommy caught Frankie flush on the point of the jaw with his left and, following up his advantage, showered lefts and rights on the champion until it seemed that he must go down.

Neil was plainly in trouble, and for a minute or so did nothing but block and bob. Murphy hit him dozens of times with his full force, and while Neil seemed to grow weaker and weaker he was always firm on his feet.

It was Murphy's round, however, and could Tommy have had a little more time he must surely have worn Frankie down to the dropping point.

Punching Match.

Hardly had the gloves of the men touched in the hand-shake which preceded the sixth and final round, than Murphy landed on Neil's face with his left. But it was not a hard blow, and Neil, who had fully recovered his strength, came back at the New Yorker good and hard. The round was one continual punching match, with blows about even. At one stage of this round Neil seemed to have Murphy going, but he was repeatedly saved himself from harm, with Neil hammering away at him with both hands a half a minute at a time.

Murphy has two good hands, while Neil has only one on his left. Had the Californian carried a knockout punch with his right, he must have landed the New Yorker along about the fourth round.

No less than seven bantams challenged the winner before the contest began—Chester Goodwin, Jim Stone, Chick Tucker, Pinkey Evans, Hughey McGovern, George Walker and Danny Dougherty. Neil said that he would fight them all in turn, but preferred Evans.

Neil did this very effectively at first, but finally Murphy found how he could get to his nose, and then Frankie resorted to those tactics less frequently. But Murphy then took up the cover-up act and repeatedly saved himself from harm, with Neil hammering away at him with both hands a half a minute at a time.

Labor Day Prizes.

The prizes for the Labor Day meet to be held under the auspices of the Georgetown University Athletic Association are now being exhibited in the show window of M. A. Tappan & Co., 123 P Street northwest. They are artistic in design and are considered to be the most elaborate ever offered for events of this nature.

Messrs. Tappan & Co. are also displaying a complete line of gunners' accessories, including the leading makes of guns, shot-fortions, etc. Associated with this firm now is Bernard J. Wefers, the former runner of collegiate fame.
